ooks at Mishawaka High School, uilding, the center of his endeavors for four years

Here are the opportunities of modern education, free to every Mishawaka boy and girl. Careful selection of courses directed by guidance counselors, diligent study motivated by well-trained instructors, and skill developed in classrooms, laboratories, and shops prepare him for the future. Even though he may receive special recognition in scholarship, may earn athletic or commercial awards, how much he has achieved is not measurable in any material way and can only be truly evaluated in personal satisfaction, future success, and happiness.

Enlivening the picture are the hundreds of girls and boys who move daily in the corridors and classrooms. From them the student chooses a few for his own personal friends.

Four years of participation in scholastic, athletic, and occupational activities bring to the student an increasing appreciation of his heritage. A victory over an archrival, some special recognition for cultural attainment he will long remember.

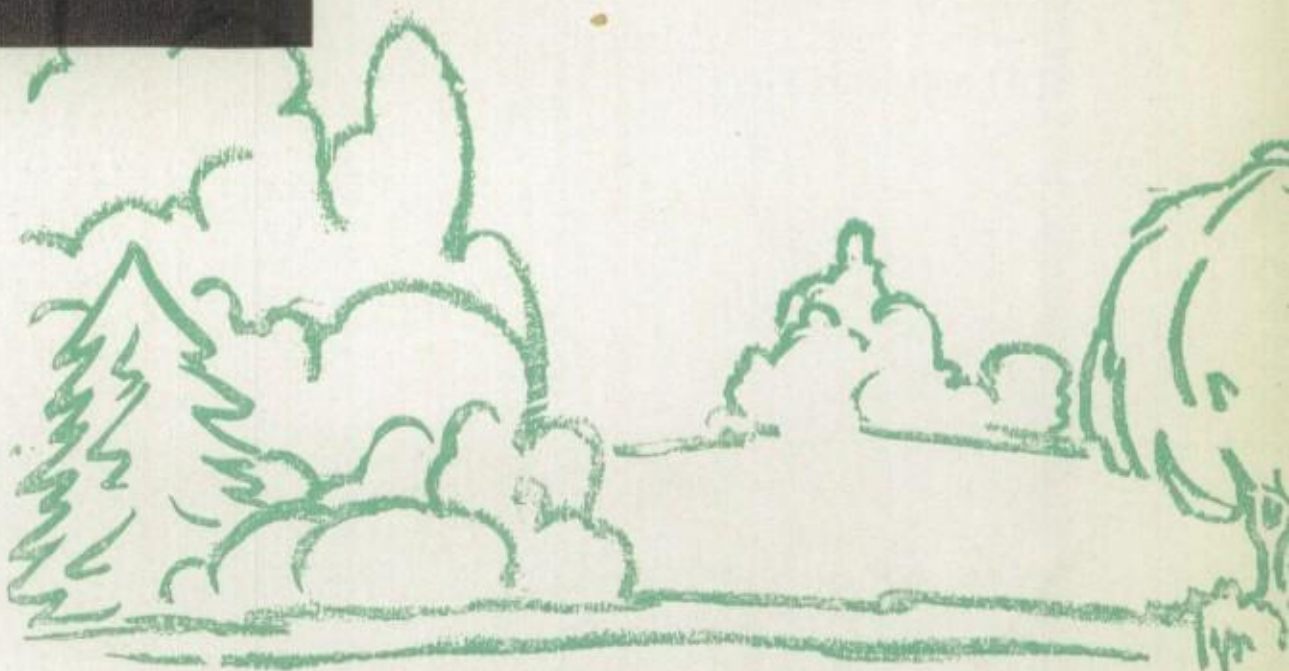

The Student program of st intriguing, acc and absorbing

Head sponsors make sure that traditions are preserved and foundations are solid, while their charges plan new ways of carrying on the customary duties and pleasures of class organization. Mr. Dahl heads the sophomores; Mr. Gardner, the seniors; Miss Perkins, the juniors.

Their classmates elected them president: Marvin Claeys, junior; Francis Pedrotty, sophomore; and Jay Gibson, senior.

Lockers are indispensable as rendezvous, and as containers of an amazing variety of school paraphernalia.

The Board of Education, (Mr. Charles Bingham; Mr. William Tupper, president; Mr. Charles Ostrom), supports Mr. P. C. Emmons, superintendent of schools, in his desire to facilitate a high standard of teaching by providing adequate equipment and pleasant surroundings.

With an intelligent approach to and thoughtful handling of problems, Mr. Wendell R. Godwin, during this, his first year as principal of Mishawaka High School, has proved himself an able, as well as a sympathetic, administrator. The class officers he enlisted as a student committee to further student participation; and the heads of departments, as an administrative staff to function as a faculty cabinet.

The superintendent's office is kept running smoothly by the efficiency of Miss Ida Betts, secretary to the Board of Education; Miss Audrey Milliken, secretary to the superintendent; and Miss Madeline Bock, clerk.

Mrs. Russell Heeter, with a capable staff of student assistants, directs the daily transactions in the principal's office.

Administration

A counselor to girls in problems of home adjustment, attendance, health, and personality, the originator of both the hall guides and Big Sister Club; the supervisor of social functions of the school; Miss Jean Cravens is admirably suited for the position of dean of girls. She also recommends girls for placement in part-time work.

Besides the hall guides, this semester Miss Cravens has a staff of seven office girls, chosen for their dependability and trustworthiness. They are in complete charge of the Dean's office during her absence, answering telephone calls, applying first aid, and making appointments.

Throughout the year the big sisters encourage in their little sisters a better understanding and appreciation of the school.

Hostesses for the school are these hall guides: seated: Veral Mae Broman, Martha Lang, and Margaret Curtis; standing: Eleanor Peterson, Betty Jo Minegar, Marguerite Hoover, Betty Jane Beron, Wilma Seigler, Julia Rohleder, Marjorie VanRie, Mary Lang, Glenna Mock, Lorraine Almquist, and Mary Jane Edgar. Those not in the picture are Doris Abraham, Rosemary Dean, Barbara Edgar, Elizabeth Ganser, Gloria Goldstein, Beverly Strobe, Lavon Woodward, and Mary Lou Wylie.

Seniors Look at Graduation!

Graduation will be the climax of four happy years at high school for 303 seniors, the largest class in the history of the school.

Hopeful of a college education, sixty-six seniors enrolled in the College Preparatory Course; eighteen others, in a Pre-Engineering Course. Preparing for business or industry, eighty-one seniors majored in commercial subjects; thirty-seven completed a Trade Course. Ninety-six seniors chose the General Course.

Student acquires we may wear the achievement

The Senior Class chose Jay Gibson and Lucian Philion president and vice-president, respectively, on the first ballot. Anna Frisoni was elected secretary; and Richard Diltz, treasurer, on the third ballot.

This was the first group of the new student committee to visit another school in order to see a form of student government in operation. They reported on the effective monitor system at Kokomo High School.

Important on the seniors' calendar were the class play, "Wings of the Morning"; the selection of Marian Kirkpatrick as Miss Kodeed, and Carl Kelley, King Kodeed, matinee dances and concessions at football games and the basketball tournament, which added income for the Misko-deed.

William J. Gardner has been the head sponsor of the class for the three years. Other senior sponsors are Jean Cravens, Elizabeth Evans, Harry Hatcher, Leila Heimbach, and Larmon Whitmer.

The Notre Dame Modernairs furnished music for the Junior-Senior Promenade, held for the second successive year at the Palais Royale in South Bend.

Recognizing capability, industry, and .. leaders of the organizations that Honor society members chose Paul Kohler and John Schindler presidents of the H. S. S. and N. H. S., distinguished for their scholarship. (Upper left)

Jay Gibson and Thomas Abberger represented Mishawaka High School at the South Bend Rotary Club's weekly luncheons. For the sixth consecutive year, the Rotarians have bestowed the honor upon two seniors, selected by the principal and the head senior sponsor. (Upper right)

Girls presided over five organizations: seated: Mary Lang, Girl Reserves; Barbara Lahr, Speech Club; and Magdalyn Kopsea, Girls' Athletic Association; standing: Lorraine Almquist, Home Economics Club; Lucille VandenAvyle, Commercial Club.

dependability, the Student chooses form integral parts of his daily life

With Larmon Whitmer as sponsor of the group, the main activity of the Honorary Scholastic Society was launched by Paul Kohler, president; Roy Behnke, vice-president; and Anna Frisoni, secretary. (Right)

National Honor Society Recognizes Leadership

To set a goal and finally reach it is an achievement. There can be no greater achievement for a student in Mishawaka High School than to be chosen a member of the National Honor Society, because he has proved himself outstanding in service, leadership, character, and scholarship. The honor is conferred at a yearly assembly of seniors and juniors.

Honorary Scholastic Society Encourages Scholarship

In the fall, twenty-eight new members took the pledge of membership at an induction service of the Honorary Scholastic Society. The Reverend George T. Ronk, a widely known evangelist, spoke on "The Question of Human and Personal Destiny." He stressed the point that the successful soul is the one that takes life as it is, and makes the most of it.

Quill and Scroll, Symbolic of Scribes of Old

Solemnly resolving to seek the truth in the field of work chosen, to aid the best interests of the community, and to help the cause of better journalism, the Quill and Scroll member accepts his pin, symbolic of the painstaking efforts of the scribes of old.

Hi-Y Arranges Programs And Pep Sessions

Flashing their red, white, and green programs, and donning their new club sweaters, the Hi-Y representatives made their first public appearance at the Central football game. Pictures and identification of players were combined in the colorful football souvenir.

Throughout the school year, the club busily occupied its time giving service to the school by planning pep sessions with interesting surprises to arouse athletic enthusiasm among the students.

A committee of juniors is working on a project for the Athletic Department. Pictures of all athletic teams that have represented Mishawaka High School, since the dedication of the present building in 1924, are being arranged in illuminated panels which will be hung on the walls of the gymnasium foyer. This project will be exhibited to the school and public at Open House.

The Hi-Y Quad school dance in February was another important social affair. The South Bend Hi-Y Clubs sponsored this dance with the support of Mishawaka. With originality and variety, the club climaxed the year's program by entertaining at the annual Sweater Hop in April.

Girl Reserves Offer Variety To Club Activities

The Girl Reserves organized their program for the 140 members into seven different activities under the able leadership of Mary Lang.

The civic interest group toured the News-Times plant, and the campuses of Notre Dame University and St. Mary's College. While the sports group was busily bowling away its troubles, the home arts section was quietly learning how to knit.

"What Husbands Don't Know" was staged by the beginning dramatics division at the pie and coke party. The advanced group presented "Green Eyes From Romany" before the Woman's Club and "Gratitude" before two school assemblies. Later, two motion pictures were edited and photographed.

In October, the etiquette group served tea to new members after the Recognition Service held in the cafeteria. Participation in the large Recognition Service in South Bend was the main activity of the small music section.

Heading the list of the all-club activities was the Shamrock Shenanigan, a St. Patrick's Day dance.

Speech Club Works In Three Divisions

Activities of the Speech Club this year were divided into three major interests. For the more industrious, there was a debate section; for footlight lovers, a drama division; and for the party fans, a social group.

The drama section, with Rosemary Dean as chairman, presented a humorous one-act play, "Christmas Trimmings."

A Thanksgiving frolic and a box social were staged by the socialites. The marionette version of Walt Disney's classic, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," was also sponsored by the social section, headed by Sara Janet Gerard.

Several speech enthusiasts furnished a weekly skit for Young America on the Air, the radio program presenting Mishawaka High School every Wednesday afternoon over WSBT. Rocco Germano and William Hartsock alternated as master of ceremonies.

Other events on the speech program were the discussion league contests, sponsored by Indiana University; extemporaneous speeches for the Kiwanians; speeches on tuberculosis, in the County Anti-Tuberculosis League contest; and the poetry reading contest.

Wranglers Debate Alliance Question

Formation of varsity and B debate squads provided inter-team competition for the Maroon wranglers' activities this year.

The climax of a program providing inter-squad and inter-school debates was the sectional tournament held in February, in which Mishawaka placed third. This year's topic was "Resolved; That the United States should form an alliance with Great Britain."

Though inexperienced, Leonard Kelley and Robert Currey, sophomores, maintained a perfect record for the negative team, defeating debaters of LaPorte, Central and Washington High Schools in South Bend. Others receiving varsity distinction were Jo Ann Walsh, Evelyn Burns, Richard Steele, affirmatives; and Clarence Peak and William Hartsock, negatives. Awards were presented to varsity members at the box social early in May.

Scarcely had the last argument on this year's subject been spoken than the debaters began reorganizing their material for the state discussion league.

Home Economics Club Visits Chicago

True to its purpose of stimulating interest in and furnishing information on subjects related to home economics, the Home Economics Club reached the height of its activities when the girls chartered a bus for a sightseeing tour through Chicago. Of interest to the group were the Swift Packing House, Hull House, the settlement house founded by Jane Addams, and the Rosenwald Museum of Science and Industry. This excursion was arranged by Miss Kibby, sponsor of the club, before she accepted a position in Terre Haute. Mrs. Swickard has been the girls' counselor during the second semester.

The organization also sponsored an assembly of all girls, at which Dr. Jacob Ros-enwasser spoke on "Prevention of Colds and Keeping Fit."

Using a patriotic motif, the girls entertained their mothers and women of the faculty at a Martha Washington tea. Skating parties and picnics rounded out the year's social program.

Friendliness and cooperation were promoted through the Home Economics Club by Lorraine Almquist, president; Maxine Ruffner, vice-president; Catherine Michels, secretary; and Arline Kindy, treasurer; with the aid of Miss Galena Kibby, first semester sponsor. (Left)

Expertly counseled by Mr. Harold Goppert, and Mr. Edwin Clarke and led by President Bob Abele, Vice-President Francis Van Huffel, and Secretary John Hoffman, the Engineering Club has encouraged shop activities for boys. (Right)

Shop Equipment Motivates Engineering Club Gatherings

It is said that opportunity knocks only once, but in the case of the Engineering Club, opportunity knocked every Monday night of the year. Under the direction of Mr. Harold Goppert and Mr. Edwin Clarke, at least seventy-five industrial or mechanical enthusiasts attended the meetings held in the shops.

With all the necessary tools and supervision provided, these boys constructed whatever project they wished. Any boy interested was given the chance of developing different types of mechanical hobbies. Many of them continued on projects which they had worked on during school hours. Several designed and built gas model airplanes and gasoline refineries.

Working in the electric shop was Robert Birtwhistle, who repaired many radios and radio equipment. He also designed and made a public address system. Francis VanHuffel completed a successful electric fillet for patternmaking, in addition to an electro-magnetic trailer brake. High frequency circuits were the main interests of Donald Mull.

The industrious workers were led through their year's work by two presidents, Robert Abele and Calvin Donath.

Board of Control Maintains System of Finance

A large high school requires a system of finance to serve the best interests of all; thus, we have had a Board of Control for eighteen years.

Mr. Hatcher, former president, is now comptroller. Mr. Gardner is president; Richard Diltz and Anna Frisoni, vice-president and secretary, respectively. Faculty members, appointed by the principal, are Miss Heimbach, Mr. Kuhn, who succeeded Mr. Dahl, Miss Perkins, and Mr. Steele. Other members are Jay Gibson, Marvin Claeys, Louisa Shoemaker, and Dale Hollingsworth.

Hi-Lites and Amateur Hour Receive Commercial Club Spotlight

Bringing commercial students in contact with the business world, the Commercial Club invited a number of speakers to discuss practical business subjects: Mr. Bernard Slavin of the Lamport-Fox Advertising Agency; Mr. F. M. Paul, Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce; Mr. Ralph Jernegan; and Miss Margaret Melser of the Better Business Bureau.

To train students in commercial work, the organization undertook two projects. HI-LITES, a department newspaper, was issued the first semester. Copywriting, stenciling, and mimeographing produced a colorful newspaper reflecting the Christmas season.

During the second semester, the spotlight was turned on the Amateur Hour. Mainly by popular vote, but also for material chosen, technique of performance, originality, and stage presence, the judges selected the following: Senior division: Lucy Buda, first; Mary Frances Kabel, second; and Robert Hutchinson and Harold Schaffer, third. Junior division: Drifters, first; Christine Zurot, second; and Margaret Gocki, third.

The climax to the year's activities was the annual banquet in May at which awards were given to those who showed special ability in competitive tests. The highest honor is the trophy donated by the First National Bank, presented to the outstanding senior with a major in commercial subjects.

Science Club Prepares Academy Exhibits

The work of a scientist is detailed and seemingly endless, but the results are especially worth-while.

Looking forward to the annual meeting of the Indiana Junior Academy of Science this year at Purdue, the Science Club members began working on their problems early in the fall. An interesting display was the liquifaction of gases arranged by Frederick McCord and Bernard Rice. Elwood May explained his chart showing steps in the distillation of wood. The cosmic-ray counter of Robert Bennett, president of the club, was one of the features of the academy gathering.

Directed by Mary Jane Cook, the biology division of the club worked on posters and entertained students at assemblies with a movie called "The Romance of Rubber" and another of the Stickler Camp in Minnesota.

Plastics, animo crystals, and distillation of wood products are the main working interests of the scientific-minded students of the chemistry division; Frederick McCord is the chairman.

In the physics section, headed by Alexander Stefucza, students experimented with the cosmic ray counter.

Scout Club Members Honor Fathers

Here are the officers of the Scout Club: Mr. Chapman, sponsor to the group; John Schindler, secretary-treasurer; Edward Gray, vice-president; Maurice De Meyer, president. Among the high lights in the year's program were a father and son program at which Maurice Pettit spoke, and a drive for food to fill Christmas baskets, jointly sponsored with the Girl Reserves.

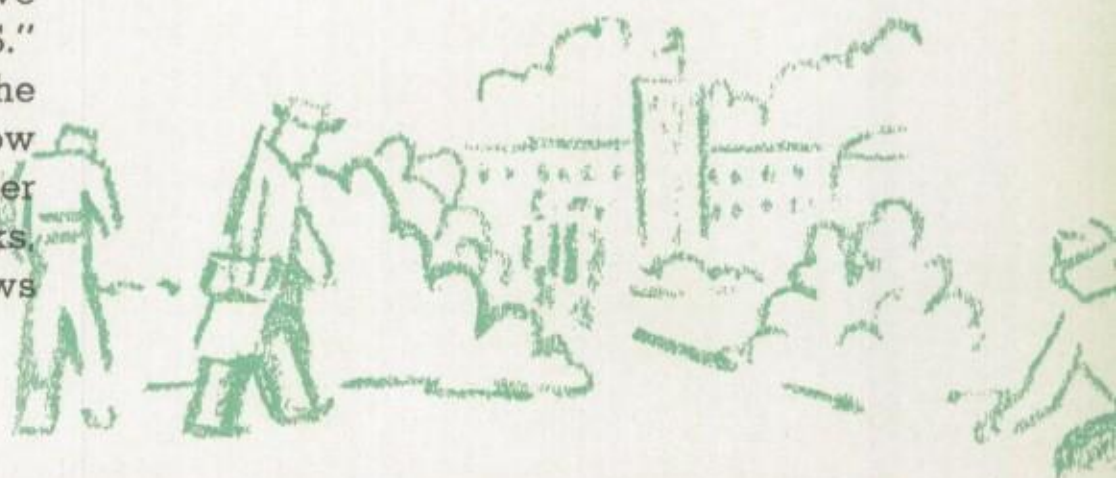

The Alltold Strives To Inform and To Amuse

Of the largely varied student activities the Alltold staff creates more interest in the school itself than any other group. Composed of journalistically inclined juniors and seniors the staff strives to keep the entire student body informed and entertained with current news of all school events.

As each year rolls by the Alltold, with its six pages of three columns, tries to improve: new staffs develop new ideas with the aid of their experienced adviser. New students growing wiser with the years, expect, receive, and enjoy a paper which reflects the best in high school life.

The first semester staff was composed of thirteen members—the smallest staff to date. Headed by Anne Dorogi, editor in chief; Betty Jane Beron, associate editor; and Barbara Lahr, managing editor; this progressive group presented a "Hit Parade of M. H. S." as part of their subscription campaign. The staff enjoyed writing such columns as Know Your School, This 'n That from Other Schools, Scoops, Greenotes, Student Speaks, and feature stories besides the routine news stories.

The second semester staff of seventeen elected Marian Kirkpatrick for their editor in chief. Jeanette Stievater held the position of associate editor; and Betty Wertz, that of managing editor. This staff presented such journalistic columns as Choose Your School, Sentinel in The Hall, As We Look Back, Daze of the Weak, and a personality sketch; their budget allowed more pictures than the first staff's. A weekly contest in the form of a quiz was conducted throughout the semester, with theatre passes as awards.

The Myth Becomes Reality — The Miskodeed

For more than eight months, the Miskodeed is a mythical volume, with occasional evidence that plans have been made, pictures are being taken, and subscriptions are increasing.

In early September, students saw the underclassmen going through the halls during sponsor period on their way to have group pictures made. In October and early November, Charlotte Butz and Roy Behnke were seen struggling with the huge lights which they used to take the numerous pictures of the club officers, of school activities, and of faculty members.

During the latter part of November and the early part of December, Marian Kirkpatrick, rick, assisted by Justin Arata, Anne Dorogi, Anna Frisoni, Jay Gibson, Anna Johnson, Lucian Philion, Ruth Plant, and Betty Wertz, conducted an extensive and intensive subscription drive which netted 767 subscriptions — seventeen more than the original goal.

From the first week of school, almost any day students who passed Room 135 the seventh hour saw the editorial board composed of Roy Behnke, editor in chief; Barbara Lahr, Mary Lang, and John Schindler, with their heads together, planning and carrying out ideas for the 1939 Miskodeed. Assisting the editorial board and the two advisers in their judicial position were Mary Jane Edgar and Martha Jane Schroeder, senior class editors; Anne Dorogi and Anna Frisoni, special copy writers; Jay Gibson and Blaine Gamble, sports editors. Betty Jane Beron assisted by typing copy for the printer.

And now, after cooperation among staff members, the engraver, and the printer, the book that was once only a myth has become a treasured reality. Here is your 1939 Miskodeed.

Music Sans Accompaniment The A Capella Choir

When September rolls around, so does the time for selecting the A Capella choir members to replace those who have been graduated. Miss Lucine Jones chooses those students — usually upperclassmen — who have shown outstanding ability during preparatory work in glee club and chorus. The choir, composed of thirty-six members, made five public appearances during the year: the Christmas pageant, Spring concert, North Central Teachers' Association, the Christian Church, and Baccalaureate.

The Christmas program, consisting of carols, tableaux, and pageantry, is the most elaborate of the year. A candle-lighted processional set a reverent mood for the carols which were beautifully sung. The tableaux, living reproductions of famous religious paintings, were revealed by the opening of a stained-glass window, a replica of the rose window of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine. Miss Alice Baker, Miss Jean Carstens, and Mrs. C. A. Hollingsworth, P. T. A. president, cooperated in the preparation of the tableaux.

This year, to determine fairness in credit distribution, Miss Jones introduced a merit system for the whole music department; one merit is given for each day's class work; merits, for special appearances; a letter for those who have earned 1,000 merits; those earning 2,000 receive a pin.

The eight seniors will wear their maroon choir robes for the last time at the Baccalaureate service.

Girls' Sextet and Boys' Quartet Are Madrigals

The Girls' Sextet and the Boys' Quartet, singing together, form the Madrigal Club. This small and select group sang at the Christmas pageant and on a WSBT broadcast. They also made several appearances before the Woman's Club.

In the girls' sextet are Virginia Beattie, Elaine Hoover, Helen Jaqua, Jeanne Pullman, Mildred Spear, and Gloriana Willett; in the boys' quartet, Clarence Peak, Woods Pepperman, Maynard Shutes, and Wayne Ward.

String Trios and Ensemble Special Units of Orchestra

The orchestra, consisting of approximately fifty members and directed by Miss Madolin Hackett, provided music for all school plays. The orchestra also appeared at the Ball Band foremen's banquet, the Lions' Club football banquet, and at the annual Spring Festival.

From the more than twenty members of the string section, eight were chosen for the string ensemble: Rocco Germano, John DiGiralamo, Dominic Perry, Robert Shafer, Lois Wharton, Maxine Orton, Wayne Chandler, Richard Pedrotty, and Wade Parks. Two trios have appeared almost weekly during the last year. The first trio was composed of Rocco Germano, violinist; Richard Pedrotty, cellist; and Wade Parks, pianist; the second group has John DiGiralamo as violinist, William Mull, pianist, and Richard Pedrotty again as cellist.

The instrumentation of the orchestra was increased by the school's purchase of two basses, two violas, and two cellos. Two pianos were used in the orchestra's performances this year.

Popular Concerts and Brilliant Maneuvers Feature 126 Bandsmen

Thousands have been thrilled by the band's brilliant, lighted maneuvers on the gridiron. Hundreds have been delighted with intricate passages of the concert numbers. Many more have applauded modern and classic music at its best presented by the Mishawaka High School Band. As an organization, the band appears before the public more often than any other school group.

The steady increase in enrollment is perhaps the best evidence that the numerous concerts at the grade schools have produced results. Five years ago there were thirty uniforms for a marching band; today, the uniformed band marches ninety strong. A much larger group, 126, plays in concerts.

Members who graduate from our high school look back to their band careers as enjoyable and instructive, chiefly because of the director, Mr. Max Kraning. A splendid band master and a warm friend, Max — for everyone addresses him thus — always works to create an organization with professional standards. His original maneuvers, remarkable displays, have the audiences at the games and concerts wondering what he will devise next.

During the fall, the band drills and rehearses for its appearances on the gridiron. In addition to marching at home football games, the band appeared on three occasions on out of town fields. Elkhart bandsmen stated that our lighted performance on Rice Field, scene of national contests, was one of the most brilliant and colorful ever presented there. In pep sessions as well as at games, the stirring marches have aroused student pep and enthusiasm.

These seven flag twirlers added dash to the football games by their colorful drills: Doris Abraham, Chalis Wanamaker, Lucille VandenAvyle, Evelyn Ritter, Betty Jo Minegar, Majel Wheeler, and Rosemary Dean.

"Attention! Forward march!" With these terse commands the co-drum-majors, Blaine Gamble and Dorothy Breunlin, lead the band in another formation. Bill Harris marched this year as junior twirler. Completing the foursome was nine-year-old state champion twirler, Jo Ann Eberhart. The new West Point cadet uniforms in which Blaine and Dorothy paraded added a dash of the military, so important to every marching performance.

When the winds of winter swept the athletic field, our musicians moved indoors for the concert season. Three individual units of the band furnished music at all home basketball games: a girls' band, a boys' band, or a group of the most skilled musicians in the demonstration band.

Three concerts, in January, April, and May, have been presented this year. All types of music were played: marches, novelties, overtures, and tone poems, providing contrast in tone value and instrumentation.

Great as the whole unit is, credit also goes to the individual ensembles from various instrumental sections. Three groups have been in rehearsal continually; a brass choir, a trumpet quartet, and a saxophone quartet. Playing about twenty-five engagements, the saxophone quartet has been the most active of the three groups. Helen Guin, Elsie Hoffman, Roy Behnke, and Fred Doutel have represented the band at entertainments, and meetings in surrounding towns, as well as in our own city.

The drum and bugle corps, patterned after that of the American Legion in instrumentation, has become an active unit under our head drum-major, Blaine Gamble. The strains of their martial rhythms have aroused great enthusiasm at football and basketball games.

One of the new features introduced this year was a troop of flag-twirlers: seven girls, each carrying a flag lettered and colored to represent the teams in the Eastern Division of the N. I. H. S. A. A. The twirlers were smartly uniformed in maroon satin slacks and white satin blouses.

The band officers are all members of the woodwind section. Robert Abele, president; Roy Behnke, vice-president; and Betty Kelley, secretary.

Capable Girls Offer Help to Miss Erwin

The library assistants who help Miss Erwin with her routine work are assigned to duty one hour each day, at the desk or in the magazine room.

For those who are more deeply interested in the work, Miss Erwin offers a special library course during the sponsor hour. These girls learn to catalogue books, to prepare them for the shelves, and to provide bibliographies on certain subjects.

Mercurius Is Latin Paper For Latin Students

The Mercurius, the Latin paper edited by the Virgil students under the guidance of Miss Zoe Wyland, published stories depicting customs and manners of Roman life as it was lived. Evelyn Sarkisian, as editor in chief, was assisted by Gerald Kamm and Doris Chenney, joke editors; Betty Jane Cavender, exchange editor; and Robert Wendel, cartoonist.

This paper entertains its readers with interesting facts and humorous selections.

Art Club Visits Local Art Exhibits

Because Miss Baker's responsibilities take her to other schools during the morning, Miss Rebecca Kabel assisted as a second sponsor to advise at morning meetings of the Art Club. This year under the leadership of Dale Hollingsworth, the club has enjoyed many social meetings in the form of parties. Besides parties and original craft projects, their program included visits to several local art exhibits during the spring.

Other officers of the club were Donald Wigent, vice-president; and Gerald Carner, secretary-treasurer, not pictured.

Idealism of Senior Play Inspires Integrity

"Wings of the Morning," by Charles Quimby Burdette, was presented by the Senior Class, April 27 and 28. The conflict of this serious three-act comedy is based on the change in five characters from self-centeredness to a sense of social responsibility. They discover that money and other narrow interests do not give satisfaction.

Discontented with life and unknown to each other, eight persons accept invitations from Master Geoffrey, an unknown host. Reaching their destination by plane, the guests find a queer house which can be raised or lowered in a shaft several hundred feet. Master Geoffrey detains his guests several days to think over life as a whole. Later, when at the bottom of the shaft, fearing death, they discover that life is worth-while.

Lighting effects, not directly visible to the audience, the strange structure of the house, the complicated backdrop were difficult problems well solved by Miss Lora Duguid, the director.

Juniors Play Seasonal Comedy Audience Highly Amused

"Spring Fever," by Glenn Hughes, is a three-act comedy with setting at a small eastern college. Here, on the day before graduation, many hilarious events occurred.

Henry Purcell, a wealthy business man, was tied to a hat tree and forced to pose as a Bolshevik for Vic Lewis, an aspiring art student. Howard Brant, a zoology student, was very nearly not graduated when he failed to hand in a term paper. Miss Corey, Howard's aunt, arranged matters for her nephew, and at the same time found romance in Virgil Bean, zoology professor, who had caused Howard so much anguish. Thus relieved, Howard surrendered to the charms of Anne Purcell, while his friend Ed Burns nearly frightened Anne's haughty mother to death with one of his "substitute for dynamite" explosives. Doctor Dixon, president of the college, finally succeeded in obtaining a grant for a new science building, so everyone was happy.

The play was selected by a committee of juniors and Miss Lester who directed the cast during the first several weeks after which Miss Moist assumed the responsibility because of Miss Lester's illness.

Those in the senior class play were Lucile VandenAvyle, John Schindler, Albert VanderHeyden, Mary Lang, Roy Behnke, Robert Claeys, Henry Ferrettie, Rosemary Dean, Magdalyn Kopsea, Marian Kirkpatrick, Phyllis Long, Wilma Seigler, Wayne Zeller, Jennie Braeckelaere, and Mary Jane Edgar.

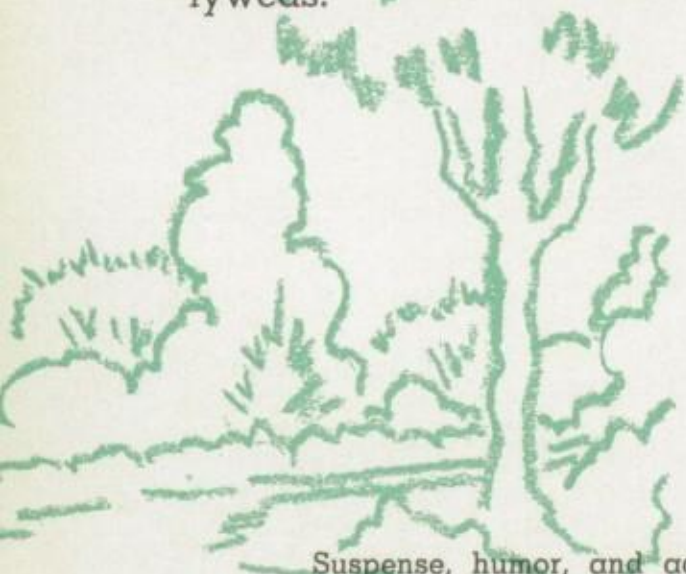

Students who made "Spring Fever" so entertaining were Doris Abraham, Robert Herron, Jean Pullman, Robert Kyle, Marcelle Martin, Mary Jane Brewer, Rocco Germano, William Hartsock, Harold Johnson, Donald Mull, Dorothy Weis, and Marilyn Wolf.

"The Life of Riley" — Sophomore Success

This year's sophomore play, "The Life of Riley," a three-act comedy by Harvey Mason, was coached by Miss Margaret Moist. New stage furniture used for the first time was purchased by the P. T. A. and the Board of Education. By way of experimentation, Miss Moist and her properties committee arranged huge floodlights for lighting effects instead of the usual footlights.

Terry and Lovey Riley, two young newlyweds, eloped to spend their honeymoon away from Lovey's domineering mother. When Warner Steele arrived, he found his best friend, Terry, in a mysteriously unexplainable predicament. In his efforts to aid Terry, who found it necessary to leave suddenly, Warner assumed "the life of Riley," thereby becoming involved in a series of embarrassing situations. One consolation was his meeting and falling in love with Terry's older sister. Terry returned as suddenly as he had disappeared, and explained that the reason for his sudden disappearance was to aid in the capture of a kidnaper. The play ended happily with the reunion of the newlyweds.

Suspense, humor, and action were furnished by Francis Pedrotty, Mary Lou Wylie, John Richardson, Betty Jane Myers, Louise Pahl, Betty Kizer, Marie Wade, Nelson Wurz, Floyd Kuzmanovich, Evelyn Burns, and Muriel Pope.

Speech Club Presents Thrilling Melodrama

"Murdered Alive" by Wilbur Braun, presented by the Speech Club in October, was a thrilling melodrama. The plot concerned the supposed death of wealthy Marvin Ryder and the strange provisions of his will.

When Acton Chance, correspondence school detective, arrived, events took a turn for the worse. When he mysteriously disappeared through the doors of an old grandfather clock and later returned very much bruised and battered, refusing to divulge the reason for his sad condition, the mystery deepened. Without warning, Marvin Ryder suddenly appeared and readjusted the tangled situation. He explained his strange disappearance earlier in the play as the result of his desire for seclusion. He was perfecting an invention to eliminate the necessity for winding clocks. A romantic interest was naturally involved, and despite many seemingly impossible obstacles, love's young dream triumphed.

Tribune Shield, Pigskin Pealer, Hickory Stick, All Held by 1938 Cavemen

For the first time since 1935, a Mishawaka team holds the coveted Tribune Shield, an award offered by the South Bend Tribune for capturing the Inter-City Championship. Our 1938 Cavemen accomplished this feat by defeating the three South Bend high schools: Central, Riley, and Washington. This shield was not the only reward gained by the Mishawaka eleven, for they also brought home the new Hickory Stick, presented to the victorious Cavemen after the Central-Mishawaka game, and the Pigskin Pealer, held by the Maroons since their triumph over Riley. The Board of Control showed appreciation of the Inter-City Championship by giving gold footballs to 24 lettermen.

Individual honors for the season are held by Captain Andrew Mickels selected as an All-State, All-Conference, and Inter-City guard; Joe Gall, All-Conference and Inter-City center; and Arnold Meixel, Inter-City halfback.

When Coach Arndt begins to mould his 1939 football eleven next fall, he will miss the services of fourteen lettermen lost by graduation.

The Mishawaka football warriors opened their 1938 season battling against Peru on Mishawaka School Field, September 9. The Peruvians, who had won their previous 20 games, were rated as being much stronger than Mishawaka and were expected to add an easy twenty-first victory. The 1938 Cavemen, however, refused to be awed by the record of the men from Peru. Led by Captain Andy Mickels, appointed captain for this game and later elected captain for the season, Mishawaka emerged from this, the first and one of the toughest games of a tough schedule, victorious by the score of 14-6.

Tilden Tech of Chicago was the next ogre on the Cavemen's giant-killing program. After a grueling battle, marked by caved-in ribs, torn muscles, and dislocated bones, the battered but happy Cavemen struggled to the top of the heap to beat the Windy City boys 7-0.

The next Friday night, eleven injured and weary Cavemen trotted out onto the Mishawaka School Field, a wee mite over-confident and took a thorough 24-6 beating at the hands of a wide-awake North Side of Fort Wayne team, who converted each Mishawaka mistake into a touchdown. We offer no alibis for their performance in this game, but the two previous battles had bruised and weakened the lighter Mishawakans and made them an easy mark for the Indians of North Side High, Fort Wayne.

On to Washington of South Bend, a team with a record so impressive that all of Mishawaka closed its eyes when the starting whistle blew. What a match would the Cavemen be for this green-clad horde after such a poor showing against the Fort Wayne team? A few plays after the opening kickoff the Mishawaka fans not only opened their eyes but gazed in admiration as the Cavemen turned back the heretofore unbeatable Washington Panthers time and time again. Toward the close of the game, while the score was still 0-0, Arnie Meixel, diminutive left-half, slithered away from a clawing Panther line and sprinted 55 yards for a touchdown, the only one of the game; moreover, the vengeful Maroons had not allowed Washington even one first down: Mishawaka 6, Washington 0.

The following week a relaxed and unwary Caveman eleven were nearly upset by the weaker but fighting Goshen Redskins. In the opening minutes, the aggressive Goshen team scored a spectacular touchdown, while a dazed Maroon squad stood back and watched. Later in the game, Mishawaka shoved over a touchdown and scored the extra point. The game ended Mishawaka 7, Goshen 6.

All Mishawaka hopes of a Northern Indiana High School Conference Championship were shattered one week later, when the powerful Elkhart Blue Avalanche walloped a sleepy squad 19-0. In every department, the Cavemen were trounced in the only disaster of their 1938 campaign.

The next Saturday, Mishawaka's gridmen journeyed to Culver Military Academy, where they played the future generals. Coach Arndt withheld his still battered first eleven from the contest to save them for the traditional Central battle to be fought the following Saturday. The inexperienced second team gave way to Culver after sustaining the attack for two quarters. The final score, Mishawaka 7, Culver Military Academy 24, marked the Cavemen's third and last loss.

The traditional Indiana gridiron classic between the Cavemen and the Bears had all the color and excitement which have heightened the conflict since Central of South Bend and Mishawaka first sent teams onto a field. Central was unable to cope with the two touchdowns scored by the Maroons in the second quarter, for they managed only a loner in the third quarter—final score: Mishawaka 14, Central 6. This is the first time Mishawaka had defeated Central since 1935, and resulted in the greatest number of points scored by Cavemen over Bears in many years.

To play their next game the Cavemen made an overnight trip to Clinton, where men are men and babies cut their teeth on football helmets. After a rough and tough battle, the Clinton Coal Miners' southern brand of football gave way to a superior northern brand, and the Cavemen emerged from the fray victorious: Mishawaka 19, Clinton 6.

The scene of the Riley game was changed from Mishawaka to South Bend School Field because of our incompleted stadium. The Cavemen broke the jinx of South Bend School Field by taming the Riley Wildcats 13-6, to wind up their season and to take the Inter-City Championship.

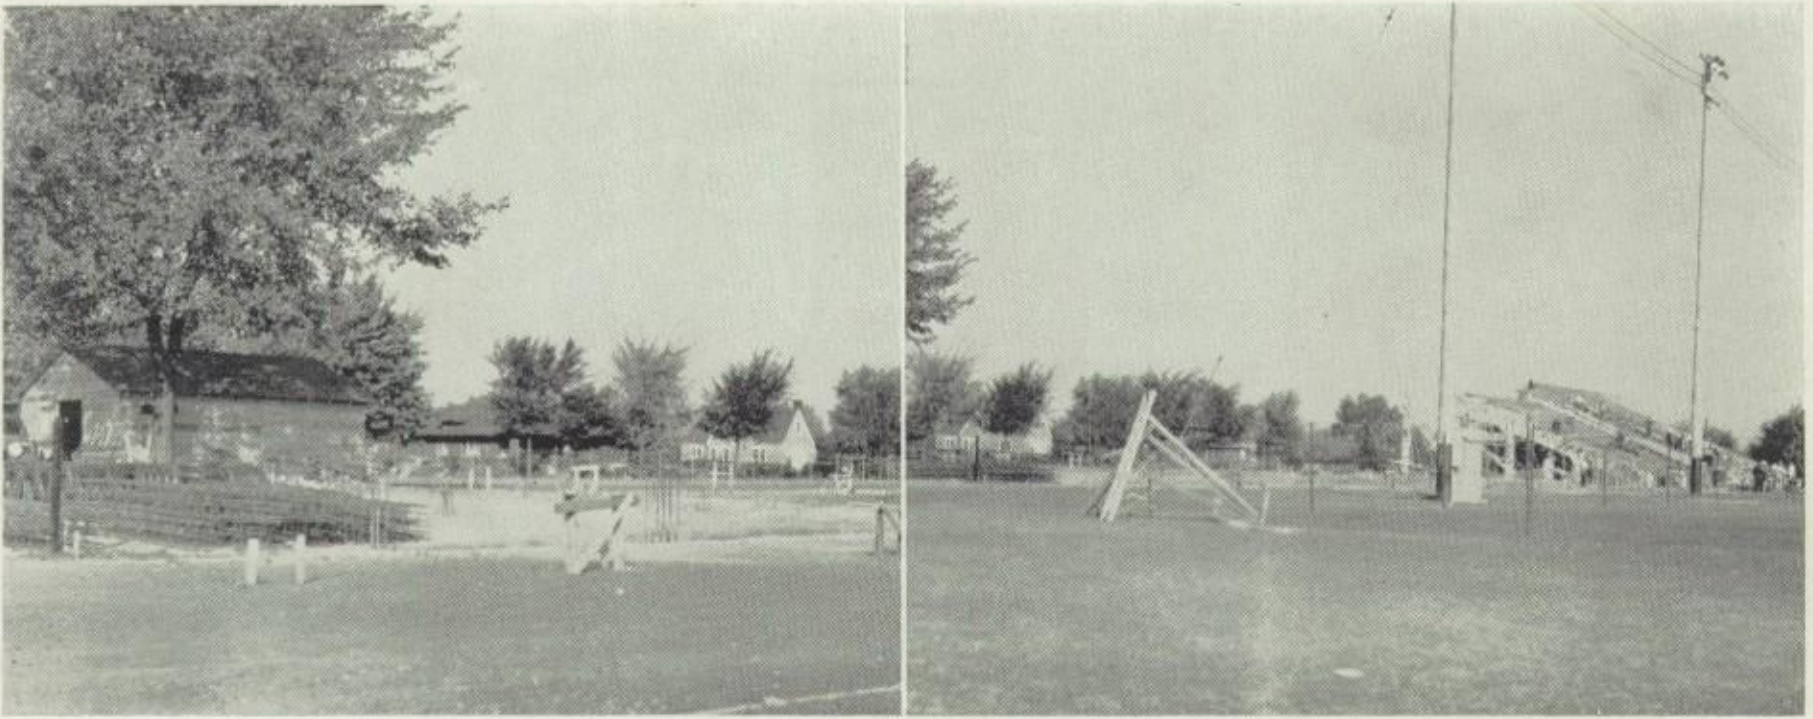

B and C Teams Win Majority of Games

Mishawaka's B team ended one of the fullest schedules as to games played which has ever been undertaken. They played thirteen games this season, sometimes playing two games on one day by splitting up the B team into two equal units. Of these thirteen games played eight were chalked up in the won column.

This year, for the first time, Mishawaka gave those boys, newly out for football, a chance to compete against other schools. Coached and played as a separate unit from the varsity, this squad was known as the C team. These boys had a fairly successful season by winning six out of their ten games.

Interesting to note is the number of games played by Mishawaka football teams in 1938. Adding the Varsity to the B and C team games makes a total of thirty-three games played, twenty-one won, twelve lost.

In August, just as practice for the 1938 football season had started, plans for the stadium were completed and work was begun on the west side of the football field. Almost overnight a timekeeper's shack, a tool house and W. P. A. workmen appeared, and mammoth holes were dug where the old wooden bleachers had formerly stood.

The first of four sections took shape early in September at the north end of the field and gave promise of what might be expected when the stands were completed.

Unusually fine autumn weather throughout October and November permitted work on the stadium to continue so that there were hopes that the game with Riley might be played on the home field.

Frank M. Steele, Director of Physical Education, inspected the stadium which was begun in the heat of August and completed just before approaching winter made further construction impossible.

A similar stand on the east side of the field will be ready for use for the 1939 football season. Throughout the winter men worked on a press box high above the west side stands which will furnish newspaper men one of the best high school press coops in the state.

The Varsity Squad:

Standing: Charles Shelton, Roy Bolen, Forrest Good, Carl Kelley, Troy Williams, Robert Schweisberger.

Games Played, Victories Won, Cavemen Emerge Sectional Champions

Not to be outdone by the football record, Mishawaka's basketball team ended its season with a 700 per cent average, winning 14 games of a 20 game schedule.

Coach Struck bases the season's success which terminated with Mishawaka's winning the Sectional Tournament upon two facts: the first is the perfect understanding which existed among the players on the team; and the second, that throughout the season the boys took each game as it came, without having any eye on the Sectional, believing that a victory is a victory.

Twelve stalwarts carried the main weight of the season upon their shoulders; among the seniors were Forrest Good, tall forward, noted for dropping in points when they were most needed; Robert Schweisberger, blond forward, who could always be counted on in the pinches; Carl Kelley, the giant center, who proved his worth under the backboard in those thrilling Sectional games. Roy Bolen and John Kurtz, two junior guards, progressed with the season. Others of the twelve who saw action and earned their letters are Joe Gerard, consistent playing senior forward; Joe Gall, junior pivot man, who specializes in playing center, having been All-Conference football center; Charles Shelton, a scrappy junior guard; Russell "Fuzzy"

Rhoads, a speedy junior forward, with enough fight for two or three fellows; Rolland Hesch, a junior forward, who gained plenty of experience this year and showed what may be expected of him as a regular; "Butch" Gerard, fighting junior guard; and Harry Heftie, smallest man on the team, a junior guard, who makes up for what he lacks in height by his speed and determination.

Twelve netmen and a manager were awarded small gold basketballs by the Board of Control in appreciation of their Sectional Championship.

Opening their season in true Caveman style, the Maroons tackled one of the toughest teams in the state at Anderson. Many rough edges in offense and defense showed that the Cavemen were not yet a smooth functioning unit, since the gridmen had reported for basketball practice only that week. The opener was dropped, 26-15.

The next three games were victories for the Cavemen with an 18-17 decision over Winamac, at Winamac, November 23; with a 28-21 victory over Bourbon, a successful opener for the home season, showing recovery after the first setback. On December 2, in a tight game with the Bulldogs of Nappanee, the Mishawaka quintet trimmed the visitors by a slim two-point margin 19-17. Carl Kelley first showed his scoring ability in this game with three field goals and a free toss.

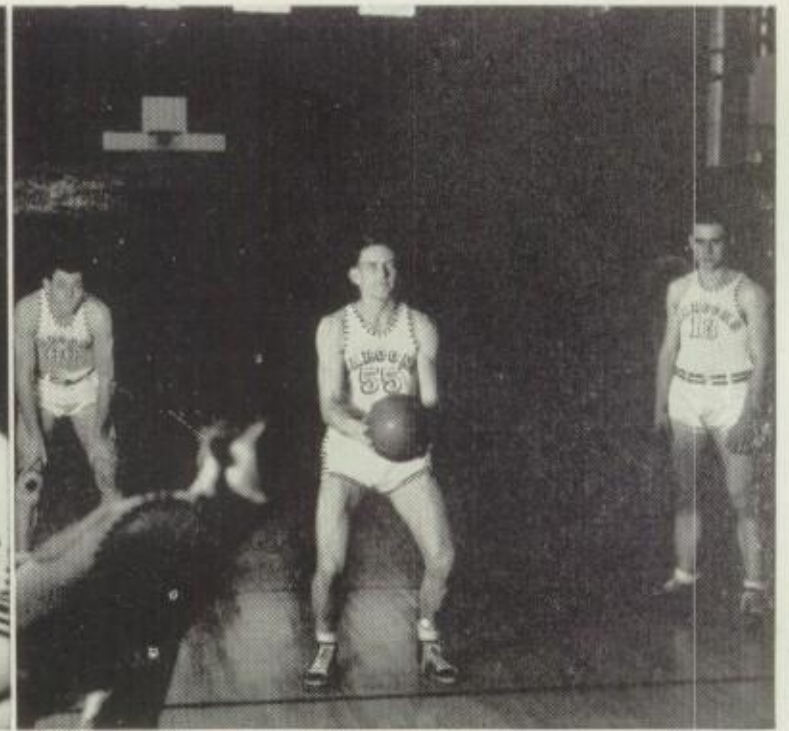

Mishawaka next played the Central Bears, South Bend, December 10, in a rough and tumble game, in the South Bend Y. M. C. A. Minus Coach "Dutch" Struck, who was in St. Joseph Hospital because of an emergency appendicitis operation that same day, the Cavemen came out on the short end of a 28-24 score, although they fought hard to the end. Scoring honors for the game went to Gensichen of Central, who scored 10 points, and to Kurtz of Mishawaka, who scored seven.

The Cavemen won their first conference game of the season on their own court December 16, with a 27-15 victory over the out-classed Goshen Redskins. The next night a traveling Muncie quintet took Mishawaka's measure to win in a tight 28-24 ball game.

In the Riley band box, unaccustomed to cramped quarters, the Cavemen were overcome by the Wildcats with the final score showing 22-24, on December 23.

Over the Christmas holidays the Cavemen journeyed south to Elwood, to engage in a round-robin tourney. Barely beaten in their first game by a scrappy little Alexandria five, 23-22, the boys got hot and won from their host, Elwood, 42-30, in a consolation game.

ond conference victory 36-31 over the Nappanee Bulldogs, January 6. Returning home, the next evening Mishawaka won the second engagement of the week-end by downing Plymouth, 28-22. In this game, however, Carl Kelley aggravated the injury to his back received in football, and he was unable to play in the next six games.

Friday the thirteenth failed to hold any fears for the Maroons, who defeated the strong Rochester quintet on that unlucky day 31-27, the first time the Cavemen had overcome the Zebras on their own floor. January 14, Coach Struck used 23 players against Madison Township, to tally an easy victory, 36-21.

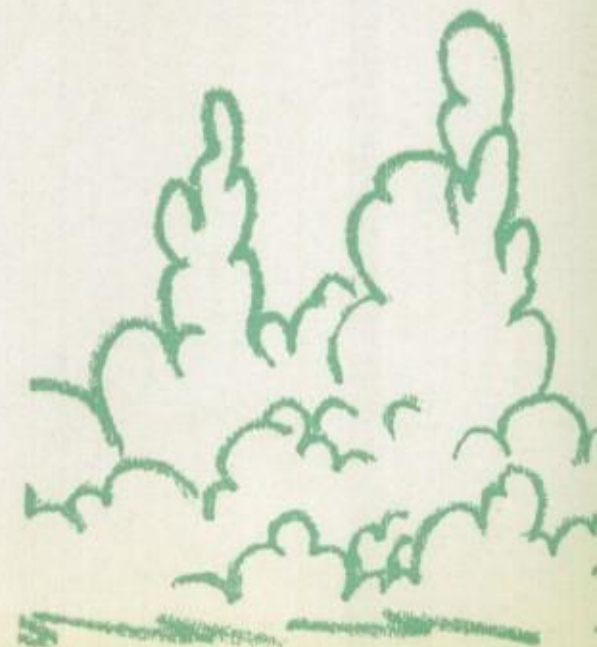

The powerful Blue Blazers from Elkhart came to town January 20, and before a capacity crowd outclassed the Cavemen 36-24. Good, of Mishawaka, and Hamlin, of Elkhart, shared high point honors, each having six field goals, and two free throws. This was Mishawaka's second defeat in four conference games.

January 27, Mishawaka's netmen traveled to LaPorte to avenge the trouncing from the Slicers last year. "Turn about is fair play," and the 30-27 defeat of one of the strongest teams in LaPorte's basketball history gained for Mishawaka its third conference victory. This was another of the many games in which the Good-Schweisberger combination worked the downfall of the opponent. Another retaliation came the next night, when the Cavemen showed the punch of a well-trained quintet by routing the Riley Wildcats 35-20, who had defeated them earlier in the season.

Central's whirlwind tactics proved too much for the Cavemen for the second time when they overcame Mishawaka 35-30, February 3, on the home court. Although the Maroons fought gamely in the second half, they were unable to cut down the early lead piled up by the Bears. With this conference defeat, our boys stood even in the conference won and lost column, three won and three lost.

The Maroons beat the visiting Michigan City aggregation 30-24 in a sluggish battle, to earn their fourth conference victory, February 10. Carl Kelley, giant center, returned for action after a six-weeks' recess because of his back. Winding up their conference season with a 29-26 victory over the Panthers of Washington, South Bend, the Cavemen placed third in the eastern wing of the N. I. H. S. C. A real thriller all the way, the game was marked by flying fists and tossing sensational baskets.

For a second time, a traveling Caveman quintet defeated the strong Elwood five. Getting off to a weak start, Mishawaka came back with a growl, so that when the final gun sounded, the score was 31-23.

Ending their scheduled season in a home game with Culver High School, Mishawaka easily overcame their opponents, 42-27.

Entering the Sectional with the stiffest schedule in the tournament on Friday afternoon, March 3, the Cavemen quickly disposed of their first foe, the undefeated North Liberty Shamrocks, who had entered the tournament with a twenty-three game winning streak, one of the popular favorites doped to wear the Sectional crown. It was Mishawaka's game throughout, the final score being M. H. S. 30, North Liberty 24.

The evening after their first victory, the Cavemen trounced a Madison Township outfit 50-21, and then met the Riley Wildcats, in the semi-finals, the third conflict for the two teams in the season. Although Riley held an 8-7 advantage over Mishawaka at the end of the first quarter, the Cavemen came back strongly to hold a 22-14 lead at the half-time, the game ending Mishawaka 38, Riley 28.

The final game of the Sectional pitted Mishawaka and South Bend Central against each other to decide who would win the honor of representing St. Joseph County at the Plymouth Regional, one week later. Could Mishawaka conquer a team which had proved itself the stronger twice previously in the season? A determined Caveman five led by Carl Kelley, giant center, answered that question the way Mishawaka teams have answered such questions before. Mishawaka could not only beat Central, but the Cavemen could out-play the Bruins in every department. When the game was over and the scoreboard read Mishawaka 41, Central 35, there were rumors that the old Hoosier jinx that one team can't beat another team three times in one season was what had helped the Cavemen win; however, determination in Coach Struck and his team when they went onto the floor against the county favorites wouldn't have let them be beaten by a team composed of Greek gods.

On to the Regional! — In the Cavemen's first game against Knox, the outcome was in doubt until the end of the third quarter, when the Mishawaka boys took the lead, which they held until the game ended with the score 36-26.

A Mishawaka team entered the finals of the Regional Tournament against Elkhart, a team confident of themselves because of their defeat of Mishawaka earlier in the season and because of an enviable record. The Cavemen bowed to the Blue Blazers 27-22.

Mishawaka's B squad emerged from all their conference games without a defeat, thus capturing undisputed first place in the conference for B teams. Throughout the season two teams worked as separate units in disposing of the foe, one made up entirely of juniors and the other of sophomores. The junior quintet was originally composed of Dick Good, Tom Daffron at forward, Joe Gall at center, and Harry Heftie, Fred Meuninch at guard; the sophomores included Jack Deal, William Fansler at forward, Francis Pedrotty, center, and Larry Deal and Sparky Casini at guard. Walter E. Thurston coached the B cagers through the season.

1939 Track and Fieldmen Uphold Consistent Record

While snow was still on the ground, trackmen were working indoors in preparation for Mishawaka's 1939 track season. Mishawaka is a school consistently strong in track and this year's team had decided long before the season opened not to let that tradition down. Although losing valuable men by graduation, the Cavemen track team has enough returning veterans from last year to make the outlook brighter for Coach Thurston.

The experienced dash men in whom the Coach had confidence for gathering points in the 220 yard dashes are Jay Gibson, Paul Knupp, Troy Williams, and Russell Rhoads, all letter winners last year. Troy, also, is expected to do some valuable work in the 440 yard dash, along with Herman Heintzberger and William Koontz.

Bill Heintzberger and Wilford Walters are the determined milers on the team who have demonstrated their ability in past performances. Both earned letters last year in track and cross-country.

Rudy Lambert and James Marvel are two more returning lettermen from last year's squad to handle the half mile duties.

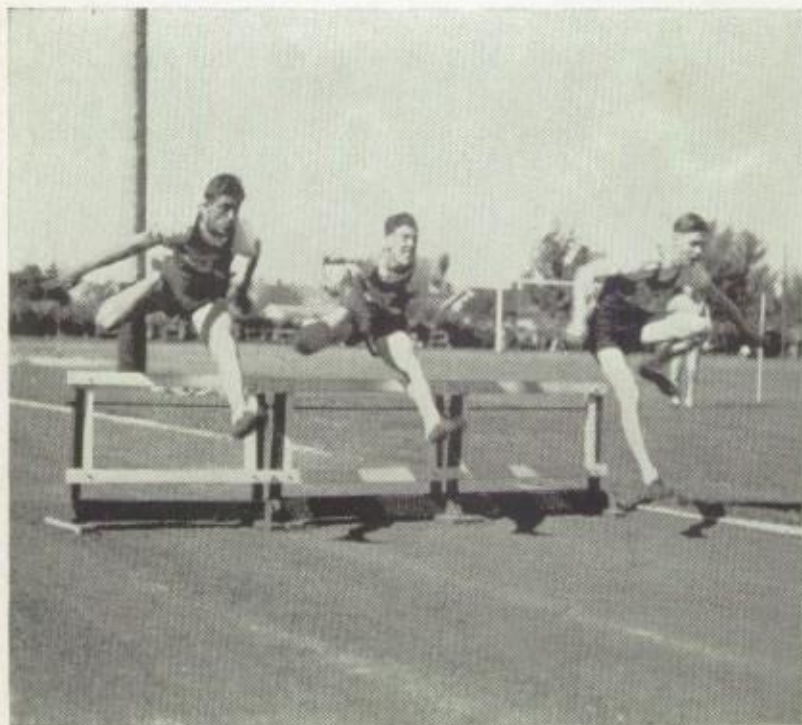

James Boehnlein, Richard Steele, and Lester Powell—all won their track letters last year—have hurdled for M. H. S. this year and done their share in the gathering of points.

In the high jump, a returning veteran is big "Forrie" Good, and a new comer William Fansler, a sophomore with good prospects.

Robert Schweisberger vaulted again this year, along with Tom Daffron, both returning lettermen.

Americo Briolo, a junior and a veteran, competed in the broadjump. Walter Jasiewicz, Joe Gall, and Roy Bolen put the shot for Mishawaka this spring.

Placing third in a field of nineteen schools in their first meet of the year, the Indoor Gary Invitational at Notre Dame, the Cavemen showed power to burn in the track events; but in the field events they showed need for further practice. Several of these men reported late because of the basketball season.

In their next contest of the season, a dual meet with North Side of Fort Wayne, one of the strongest teams in Indiana, the Cavemen were nosed out of a win by a scant three points: final score 66-63.

Harriers Prove That M. H. S. Runners Never Quit

Although Coach Walter Thurston's maroon clad thinlies were unable to capture every cross country meet, they showed ability to come through when the going got hard.

William Heintzberger, elected honorary captain by his teammates, garnered six firsts during the season. Perhaps his best story book race occurred at the mythical state meet held at Fort Wayne. Coming down the last 600 yards, Bill and two others were running neck and neck, battling for first position. Suddenly our dependable runner spurted ahead; when he did so, one of the two told the other he needn't worry, because Bill couldn't hold that lead. Those few words sparked the local runner and had much to do with his winning first. After the race, Bill was presented the gold medal, the award to the champion.

Wilford Walters provided the Frank Merriwell finish at the N. I. H. S. C. race, at Gary. Shortly after the start, someone spiked him and ripped his shoe off. Undaunted by this catastrophe, Bill continued to run and placed sixth. It takes stamina to run two miles, but it takes courage to run with a foot clawed by spikes.

Rudolph Lambert came into his own in the Culver meet. He passed the entire field of runners and came across the finish line one step behind Heintzberger. The first five Maroon harriers were all clocked below the Culver course record.

Donald Karnes had several misfortunes, but he stayed in the running and finally overcame these obstacles. In cross country, Don could always be counted on to aid the Maroon cause.

James Marvel was consistently among the leaders in every meet. Coach Thurston looks forward to using this sophomore who gained experience this year, because he will be one of the few returning lettermen next year.

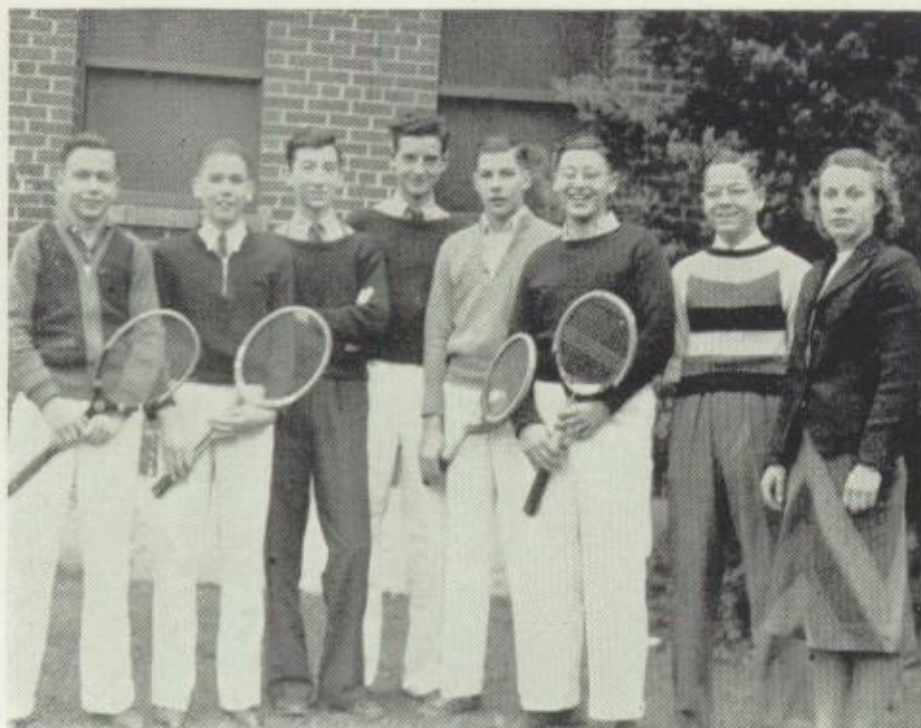

James Boehnlein is also returning to the field next year. Jim is big and full of determination; no matter how difficult the going, Jim was right there with the best of them.

Others who won their cross country awards were William Koontz, Leslie Powell, Julius Ciszczon, and Roscoe Ransberger.

"They did not win every time, but they were just as good losers as they were winners, and they kept up the tradition that a Mishawaka runner never quits," Coach Thurston said about the squad.

Racqueteers who played in the fall matches are Donald Behnke, Howard Muldoon, Richard Pedrotty, Francis Pedrotty, Robert Kyle, Yale Friedman, Mac Johnson. Miss Raaflaub was their coach.

Carl Housand, Richard Peiffer, Robert Abele, and Woods Pepperman are the veterans on the golf team. Mr. Gardner was their coach for the 1938 schedule.

Spring Tennis Scheduled for Squad of Seven

Again, as spring rolled around, Mishawaka High School's aspiring Don Budes took to the court. Service! Fault! Service!! Then the ball whips across the court to the backhand, and then again to the forehand, until there comes the inevitable error.

The roster of this season's club includes Donald Behnke, Roy Behnke, Yale Friedman, Mac Johnson, Robert Kyle, Francis Pedrotty, and Richard Pedrotty. Five matches were scheduled with the South Bend schools, Washington, Riley and Central, with Elkhart, and with Culver.

Last October, when Mr. Hatcher retired as tennis coach to fill the position of comptroller of the Board of Control, Miss Raaflaub, physical education instructor, accepted the mentor's position, becoming the first woman coach in the school's athletic history. In an exceptionally short season, Coach Raaflaub arranged two inter-city matches. The Central match was lost, but the netmen defeated Riley with the loss of only one set. In the N. I. H. S. C. tournament, Francis Pedrotty and Roy Behnke, playing doubles, garnered the only points registered by our team.

Foursome of Veterans is Nucleus of Golf Team

Schedule and squad for the 1939 golf season were more or less lists and plans when the Miskodeed went to press. Mr. Raymond DeCook had been appointed coach to complete arrangements for practices and meets, with the assistance of Physical Education Director Frank Steele.

Woods Pepperman, 1938 letter man, Robert Abele, Carl Housand, and Richard Peiffer formed the nucleus of the team which represented M. H. S. on the links. Several freshmen were also good prospects for this spring's squad. Among the newcomers on the fairways were Jack Brown, Kenneth Chamberlain, and Richard Kelley.

A heavy schedule was arranged for this seven-man team. Central teed off against the Cavemen on the Eberhart Park course, April 26, followed by Riley on May 3. After the match in St. Joseph, Michigan, the schedule will be completed by home matches with Riley and St. Joseph on May 22 and 27, followed by the Central final in South Bend, May 29.

Special permission from the City Comptroller gave the golfers the use of the Eberhart Park course for practices and matches.

The crew of officers that piloted the G. A. A. are: Martha Landuyt, vice-president; Magdalyn Kopsea, president; Miss Raaflaub, sponsor; Irene Haney, treasurer, and Elizabeth Ganser, secretary.

The seniors in Ethel Miller's victorious volleyball team are: Dorothy Henderson, Bette Jo Shade, Anna Johnson, Ethel Miller, Lois Wagner, Gladys Macready, Eunice Miller, Deloris Francis, Betty Jane Cavender, Annd Stafford.

Members of the new "Time Out Club" are Alice Collins, Elizabeth VanderWende, Betty Jane Cavender, Irene Haney, Rosemary Sharp, Miss Raaflaub, Elizabeth Ganser, Emma Hillaert, Alma Johnson, Betty Kizer, Shirley Flynn, Irma Detert, Bette Jo Shade, Anna Johnson, and Lois Sanders.

G. A. A. Crew Provides Stimulating Itinerary

In the control room of the Girls' Athletic Association excursion boat are people who have made the 1938-39 season a trip with smooth-sailing and exciting events for athletic passengers. To the spirited pilot, Miss Elizabeth Raaflaub, and her crew: Magdalyn Kopsea, president; Martha Landuyt, vice-president; Elizabeth Ganser, secretary; and Irene Haney, treasurer, go the laurels. But credit is also due the little sailors — seventy-five of them.

A farmer and farmerette party was the first social event of the cruise which followed an entertaining and exciting course. Prizes, games, and square dancing were features of the farmerette frolic. It was a gay beginning.

And then came the days when the balls began to roll — speedball, volleyball, and basketball. Lois Sander's team wears the speedball crown, while Jennie Braeckeleare's cagers earned the basketball title. Ethel Miller led the senior volleyball team victoriously through the season.

The Ski-Hi rink in South Bend was the scene of one of the most successful of the social and financial projects, the G. A. A. Round-Up. A later skating party proved to be as successful as the first one.

On the sidelines, the Time Out Club, a group of girls interested in officiating, studied the technical side of the game. Miss Raaflaub taught the small and alert group. Members of this new organization are Jennie Braeckeleare, Betty Cavender, Alice Collins, Irma Detert, Emma Hillaert, Alma Johnson, Anna Johnson, Ruth Rohrbaugh, Lois Sanders, and Rosemary Sharp.

Wearers of the speedball crown are Patricia Michels, Irene Pawlowski, Ruth Rohrbaugh, Julia Gulyancis, Lois Sanders, Elsie Kopsea, Olga Crapo, Rosemary Sharp, Frances Walerko, Frances Truho.

Seniors took the basketball championship with such players as Edra Kemper, Dorothy De Cloedt, Jennie Braeckelaere, Rosemary Nicolini, Martha Landuyt, and Anne Van Durmen.

Table tennis was a new sport introduced this year. From the combined treasuries of the Girls' Athletic Association and the Intramural Athletic Association came funds to provide four new green and white tennis tables plus nets, paddles, and balls. Fifty-five girls entered the tournament, competing in one of the three groups: beginning, intermediate, and advanced. Judy Collins was champion of the beginning group, with Betty Jane Cavender as runner-up. The champion of the intermediate was Dorothy Weis, with Marjorie Claeys as runner-up; Joan Winey was victorious over Elizabeth VanderWende in the advanced group. Three girls responded to the call for players in a mixed-doubles tournament.

Three hundred fifty points and ten achievement tests are the prerequisites for the state award, the wall plaque. Unorganized activities, those done without the supervision of the teacher, make up the major number of the necessary points. Fifteen points are the maximum that can be earned in one six weeks. The deserving seniors that received their plaques this spring are Dorothy DeCloedt, Anna VanDurmen, Elizabeth Ganser, Martha Landuyt, Gladys Macready, Eunice Miller, and Rosemary Nicolini.

Alice Collins, Frances Houghton, Ethel Miller, Thelma Nellans, Lois Sanders, Anna Stafford, and Lois Wagner wear their awards, a large chenille "M", with pride. Earning two hundred fifty points made them eligible for the second award given by the G. A. A.

The thrill of one's first award never seems to lessen. The sophomores show the same air of expectancy about numerals as the seniors who anticipate their plaques. The girls that received numerals are Helen Buraczewski, Alice Collins, Armida Colza, Peggy Funk, Ruth Rohrbaugh, Bette Jo Shade, Rosemary Sharp, Marjorie VanRie, Elizabeth VanderWende, and Mary Lou Wylie. The presentation of the awards was made at a banquet in the cafeteria in May.

Intramural Athletes Offer Four Sport Competition

Co-operation and sportsmanship are qualities developed in the boys of the Intramural Athletic Association who enjoy competition in sports.

Table tennis, a new sport inaugurated this year, stimulated the enthusiasm of nearly one hundred boys who took part in tournaments, after spring vacation. The players were ranked according to their experience, which gave the inexperienced players just as much opportunity to win as some of the more skillful players. Mr. Steele feels that this sport has been a wise addition to the already varied program, because it tends to develop the individual. David Jacobowitz, a junior, was the winner of the first intramural table tennis tournament.

In the passball leagues, Joseph Ferrari and Albert Stoehr piloted their teams to win in their respective leagues. Ferrari's team won the first game of the three-game play-off to decide the champion. Stoehr's team stiffened and sharpened their defense enough to take the remaining two games by scores of 7 to 0 and 26 to 12. The seniors on the winning team were Robert Morgan, Don Karnes, Harold Hyke, Robert Dennison, Dale Emmons, Ted Alexander, and Albert Stoehr.

Andy Mickels, Tommy Doyle, and Albert Stoehr were captains of the three winning volleyball league teams. In order to reach the finals, these squads defeated a field of sixteen other teams. Albert Stoehr led his mates on to another championship when they defeated the other league winners.

Twenty-one teams signed up for league play in basketball. The Hoosier hoodoo that one team can't defeat another good team three times in one season held true in the clashes between the juniors and seniors: the juniors easily defeated the seniors, but in the tournament, the seniors upset their archrivals and went on to win the championship.

These boys receive awards for outstanding play and sportsmanship. They are given points for participating in every sport. In order to remain in the club, they must take an active part in the program. Three medals of achievement are awarded at various steps of progress: a bronze medal, for forty points; a silver medal, for sixty points; a gold medal, eighty points.

Theodore Alexander was chosen by his fellow members to be their president for the year. Ted deserved this honor, because he had won more athletic points than any other member in the club. Louis Stickovich was also elected an officer.

Close competition among the candidates required four ballots to elect the Junior Class officers: Marvin Claeys, president; Robert Herron, vice-president, (chosen on the first ballot); Troy Williams, secretary; and Louisa Shoemaker, treasurer.

These officers contributed a report on hall traffic in Indianapolis high schools to the survey conducted by the student committee.

Juniors Forward March

To Miss Perkins, the "400" class; to others, the juniors; to all, the most active class in school.

The innovation of activity forms was inaugurated by Miss Ruby V. Perkins, head sponsor of the class. On these the "400" recorded their various activities and preferences for committees; these data proved helpful to the sponsors in determining eligibles for the National Honor Society, and persons best suited to work on committees.

Most important events to a junior are the class play and the prom. "Spring Fever", a comedy farce built around college life, was presented in March under the direction of Miss Wilhelmina Lester and Miss Margaret Moist. The prom, in honor of the graduating class, will be held May 26 at the Palais Royale Ballroom for the third consecutive year.

With industry and foresight, the class has been accumulating money for their Miskodeed. In the fall, the juniors assisted the seniors in charge of concessions at football games, and in the spring the seniors helped them at the Sectional Basketball Tournament. They also supervised the printing and selling of the football programs.

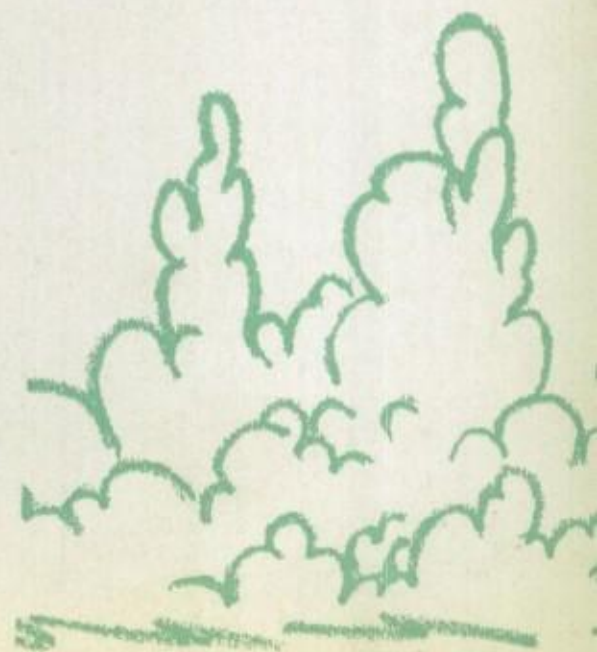

In February, the class presented Dr. Paul L. Thompson, president of Kalamazoo College, who lectured to the upperclassmen on the subject, "You Yourself". The juniors also presided when Barclay Acheson, associate editor of the Reader's Digest spoke on "Progress and Democracy."

Hope Barrett, secretary; Dale Hollingsworth, treasurer; Francis Pedrotty, president; (elected on the first ballot); Herman Heintzberger, vice-president, are the Sophomore Class officers.

Miss Moist and the class officers went to Roosevelt High School, East Chicago, in March, to see an unusually efficient student government organized on the plan of the federal legislative department.

Sophomores Mark Time

A successful play, change of head sponsor, and an underclassmen assembly marked the first active year of the Class of 1941. The 407 sophomores in September, supplemented by 27 in January, totaled 434. Mr. Lester Dahl, head sponsor during the first semester, was appointed principal of Beiger School in January, and Miss Margaret Moist succeeded him.

On December 6 the class presented its first organized activity, "The Life of Riley," a three-act play directed by Miss Moist.

The class officers were in charge of an assembly for underclassmen on February 20, at which time General Motors' motion pictures were shown. Herman Heintzberger, vice-president, presided in the absence of Francis Pedrotty, president

Freshmen Line Up

The 334 freshmen who entered M. H. S. in September, and the additional 114 who enrolled in January, may have been small, green, inexperienced, but they were not lacking in school spirit and social-mindedness. An unusually large number of freshmen attended dances, parties, and athletic contests, and subscribed to the publications. No small amount of credit for this co-operative spirit may be given to the "big brothers and sisters" who gave the freshmen a "belonging" feeling.

Freshmen

You have come to the end of the 25th which has carried on the tradition of life in Mishawaka High School

In 1874, the first Mishawaka High School was built at Hill Street and Lincoln Way West, north of the present Main Junior High School. It was a three-story building, including an auditorium, on the third floor, and ten classrooms, only three of which were used by the high school.

In contrast to the 1,608 now in attendance at Mishawaka High School, only 57 were enrolled the first year. The first class was graduated in 1878.

"Miskodeed," picturing daily

Main Junior High School now, but the new high school building in 1911, when the Miskodeed was first conceived.

In 1911, an active Junior Class of Mishawaka High School, realizing the desirability of a high school yearbook, published the first Miskodeed.

The publication of this first Miskodeed was an exceptionally difficult task: there was no precedent, no one upon whom to rely for experienced guidance. The twenty-three members of the class devoted much time and effort to the publication. Mr. John F. Nuner, superintendent of schools; Miss Mary D. Welch, principal; and Miss Marie

Simpson, English instructor, however, all gave of their time and effort in the interest of the yearbook, which was a success.

One problem confronting the first staff was that of choosing a suitable name for their annual. They selected the Pottawattomi Indian word, Miskodeed, meaning spring beauty, as an appropriate name, because it bore a resemblance to the Indian name, Mishawaka, and because the annual was to be published in the spring.
